Access Control

As individuals require single source for all their security needs, demand and planned growth has led Eagle to provide a broader range of security solutions.

A number of highly sophisticated CCTV and colour video entry systems have been supplied. This gives the company or individual very cost effective state of the art technology with support and advice from the one company.

Video entry provides the ultimate in access control combining the comfort of a visual recognition with audio. Eagle has the experience to identify the correct system for you?re application and at the same time ensure the product meets all current and future requirements

Eagle has vast experience installing systems that work over a BT network. The unit is programmed remotely with the required telephone number of the house or apartment and allows entry to be controlled by the person receiving the call.

Access Control

The unit has the option of built in camera that can be linked to existing CCTV systems or tuned to a channel on the television. Available with an integrated keypad it can also provide coded access at the gate or front door